

Ellis Hogan

Looking for front end web development.

ellishogan95@gmail.com

Summary

I am currently working on creating web pages in html/css and javascript for both personal use and for clients. I have also begun creating apps in swift for iOS. I am looking to get away from freelancing work and move into a more secure job where i can really hone my front in web development skills, as well as other potential bright eager entrepreneurs interested in creating an app development company.
